OCD approval does not relieve the operator of liability should their operations fail to adequately investigate and remediate contamination that may pose a threat to groundwater, surface water, human health or the environment. In addition, OCD approval does not relieve the operator of responsibility for compliance with any other federal, state, or local laws and/or regulations.

Good Morning Wade,

After discussing the battery assignment to a facility or to the API# (if available) on the spill incidents. Mike agrees that if there is an API# such as for this specific well name and number- 30-015-28727. I will go ahead and add the API# to this specific C-141.

Sorry for the confusion, any further issues please feel free to contact Mike Bratcher. ☺

Have a good day,
