Merrion Oil & Gas returned the subject well to production January 6, 1997, however, the well logged off immediately and was not able to produce. The casing has been open to the sales line since that date. Our intent was to put the well back on to pump. We have been waiting for other well work to take place so that we could transfer used rods to the subject well. We have not been able to free a rod string and we have not been able to locate satisfactory used rods, but we now plan to order a rod string for the well. We plan to have the well on to pump by November 1, 1997.
