Subject: RE: [EXTERNAL] San Juan 31-6 unit 49 (30-039-23158)

Monica,

A meeting was never set-up to discuss this issue. Ben Hampton has joined the San Juan East group as the production manager. He has a couple of questions below.

Hilcorp would like to propose to run a caliper log from the top of the perms at 7864' to the bottom of where the RBP was set at 7,768'. When interpreting the caliper log we would assume anywhere we see 100% metal loss as an indication of an integrity issue. Anywhere we see less than 100% metal loss we would consider the casing to have integrity. Please let us know if this type of log and this interpretation would be acceptable.

Thanks,

Kandis Roland

Monica,

Thank you on the quick response. Hilcorp has some additional questions around type of log that needs to be ran and would like to discuss the process and timing to insure that we meet requirements. Would we be able to set-up a conference call with you and the SF Engineer/Staff to discuss?

I am more than happy to send out the meeting invite. Just let me know a good time and who to include.

Thank you,

Good morning all

The well above could not get RBP to set at 7814 and had to move up hole to 7768.

Once RBP set Hilcorp can proceed with approved procedure. However, at this time we do not know if the casing has integrity below depth of RBP - the casing will need to be checked by a Casing Integrity Log from depth of RBP to top of Dakota perforations.

If you have any questions, please let me know
