Ms. Callahan,

Chevron's requests in the above cases for an extension to drill and complete so that they have 18 and 24 months, respectively, are moot. Ordering paragraph 19 already gives operators one year to commence drilling and another year to complete the well. Therefore, so much of Chevron's applications that request an extension will be passed over as unnecessary.

Should Chevron find it requires additional time to drill or complete beyond that granted in the order, it can apply to OCD which will grant an extension for good cause shown.

Thank you,

Kurt Simmons
