Allison,

We are at the end of the technical review. The question raised in the legislator's letter concerning hydrogen sulfide is adequately addressed within the application both in terms of minimizing the generation of the gas and the monitoring of air quality in the immediate area. Nonetheless, it is perhaps prudent to request the applicant provide a screening level air quality model to predict the highest probable concentration. If we do make such a request and the response is sufficient, we will prepare the tentative decision.
