A photograph of two large, cylindrical industrial storage tanks in a desert environment. The tanks are light-colored, possibly white or light blue, and are situated on a sandy, rocky ground. The tank on the left is taller and has a small, dark rectangular opening near its base. The tank on the right is shorter and wider. In the background, there are some wooden structures and a clear blue sky. A white label with black and blue text is overlaid on the right side of the image.
