1           WHEREUPON, the following proceedings were had at 2   9:10 a.m.:

3           CHAIRMAN LEMAY: Good morning, this is the Oil
4   Conservation Commission. My name is Bill LeMay. To my 5   left is Commissioner Bill Weiss, to my right Commissioner
6   Jami Bailey, representing the Commissioner of Public Lands,
7   State of New Mexico.

8           I would also like to introduce our Commission
9   Counsel, Margaret Cordovano, who will be with us today
10   doing the legal work of the Commission.

11           So we shall begin by calling Case 11,353, which 12   is the matter called by the Oil Conservation Division to 13   amend Rule 303.C of its General Rules and Regulations
14   pertaining to downhole commingling.

15           At the request of Mr. Kellahin, we will be 16   continuing this case till the January hearing.

17           Which reminds me, after the break we will have 18   some dates for you all. First I have to confer with my 19   fellow Commissioners to see if these dates from here on out 20   are acceptable, and then we'll make an announcement, what 21   dates we'll be meeting.

22           We will be meeting December 14th. That has been 23   pre-arranged. So those of you not used to having a 24   December Commission meeting, like we aren't, we are going 25   to have one this year.

1           The Cases Number 11,297 and 11,298, one is the 2   Application of Exxon for a waterflood project qualification
3   for the recovered oil tax credit, and 11,298 is the 4   Application of Exxon for statutory unitization. Both those 5   cases will be heard de novo at the December 14th Commission
6   hearing. They will be continued from this docket to that 7   docket.

8           (Thereupon, these proceedings were concluded at 9   9:11 a.m.)
