1           WHEREUPON, the following proceedings were had at
2           9:03 a.m.:

3
4           CHAIRMAN WROTENBERY: Then we also had on the 5           agenda the Application of the Oil Conservation Division to 6           amend Rule 303.C through 303.H. This is Case 12,346.

7           This matter was continued from the February 25th,
8           2000, Commission hearing.

9           We will accept any testimony today if there is 10          anybody here who would like to present any testimony.

11          We have not received any written comments at all
12          on this proposal to date. We had requested initially that 13          comments be submitted in writing by last Friday, but we 14          will be extending the comment period.

15          We were unable to proceed to adopt these rule
16          amendments today because of some changes that the State
17          Records Center has made in the formatting requirements for 18          rules, and we're having to make some adjustments in format,
19          nonsubstantive changes.

20          So we will accept comments in writing on the 21          proposed amendments to the downhole commingling rules until 22          April 21st, 2000. That's a week before the Commission's 23          meeting on April 28th.

24          And then at that point we should be able to 25          proceed to consider adoption of the amendments to the

1 downhole commingling rule at the April 28th Commission
2 meeting.

3 (Thereupon, these proceedings were concluded at
4 9:05 a.m.)
