

MISCELLANEOUS REPORTS ON WATERS

The following report is published to the public for their information and to show the results of the work done by the State Geologist in the investigation of the waters of Montana. It is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes. The report is published in the form of a book and is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes.

Published by the State Geologist, Helena, Montana, 1908.

| | |
|---|---|
| CONTENTS | 1 |
| CHAPTER I. GENERAL STATEMENT OF THE PROBLEM | 1 |
| CHAPTER II. METHODS OF INVESTIGATION | 1 |
| CHAPTER III. RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION | 1 |
| CHAPTER IV. CONCLUSIONS | 1 |

The following report is published to the public for their information and to show the results of the work done by the State Geologist in the investigation of the waters of Montana. It is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes. The report is published in the form of a book and is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes.

YET ANOTHER ACCOUNT OF WATER POWER AND HOW IT IS OBTAINED

The following report is published to the public for their information and to show the results of the work done by the State Geologist in the investigation of the waters of Montana. It is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes. The report is published in the form of a book and is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes.

The following report is published to the public for their information and to show the results of the work done by the State Geologist in the investigation of the waters of Montana. It is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes. The report is published in the form of a book and is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes.

The following report is published to the public for their information and to show the results of the work done by the State Geologist in the investigation of the waters of Montana. It is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes. The report is published in the form of a book and is intended to be a permanent record of the work done and to be a guide to the people of the State in the selection of water for domestic and agricultural purposes.