Good afternoon, Leonard.

Can we go ahead and reject the following NSP? Action ID NO. 452775

I went through and reviewed it, and it looks like there are issues on that one as well. Same issue wrong pool. I received conflicting information from our land department, and I didn't catch it.

I decided to rereview both applications, update and resubmit them. I noticed all affected parties again with the new NSP applications. I wanted to redo them and have clean slate on those.

The new application PO numbers are:

UJY80-250602-NSP000 – MAD ADDER 31 STATE COM - WC-025 G-07 S243225C; LWR Bone Spring [97964]

W3F9A-250602-NSP000- MAD ADDER 31 STATE COM - WC-025 G-06 S253201M; Upper Bone Spring [97784]

I took over doing all the NSP, NSL's and AOC. I have quite a few NSPs to work on.

Thank you,
Kayla

Kayla McConnell,

REJECTED NSP APPLICATION

There is confusion between these two NSP submitted. The Pools appear to be the same for both NSP applications.

The following is receivable,

Action ID NO. 452775 with Pool Code: 97964. This is according to your entire NSP application.

The second NSP application is confusing,

Action ID NO. 452872 has its AAC identify Pool Code: 97964 (the same as the previous Action ID NO application). The NSP letter then identifies a Pool Code: 97784. The C-102's within the application identify Pool Code 97964. Some C-102's do not identify the Pool Codes.

This application has an array of confusing information. I will need to deny this application at this time.

Please clarify the NSP application for Action ID NO. 452872. Once it is corrected you will need to renote all affected parties and resubmit the application to the OCD.
