OCD approval does not relieve the operator of liability should their operations fail to adequately investigate and remediate contamination that may pose a threat to groundwater, surface water, human health or the environment. In addition, OCD approval does not relieve the operator of responsibility for compliance with any other federal, state, or local laws and/or regulations.

Good afternoon,

Please see the attached initial C141. Also, the vac truck tickets states oil but was condensate.

Let me know if you have any questions.
