Final Abandonment Notices shall be filed only after all requirements, including reclamation, have been completed, and the operator has determined that the final site is ready for final inspection.)

Plans are being finalized to return this well to production. The deviation survey is being modeled to determine if we can run a sub pump into this well. The model suggest we should be able to get the pump to bottom. We are waiting on coated tubing at this time and plan to run the pump within the next 2-3 weeks.
