Ben,

Yes, the amendment request for the WLC South Fed SWD No.1 is fine for now, but in the future for public notices please indicate an expected maximum rate as per 19.15.26.8 C. (1)(c) NMAC.

Dylan,

Thanks for the email – you say towards the end, “future...”

So are these good for now? I have no problem inserting an expected rate – just have never been in the habit since OCD has no rules relating to rate.

Thanks,
Ben

Mr. Stone,

While I have posted the previously submitted documentation to the administrative record, no decision on the documents status was reached. Further review of the material has brought an issue to light: with regards to the legal notice for both wells published in the Hobbs Daily News-Sun on January 25, 2020, the notice did not state the expected maximum injection rate. You will note that within 19.15.26.8 C. (1)(c) NMAC, it is clearly stated that maximum expected injection rates must be included in the public notice.

Therefore, in the future please indicate an expected maximum injection rate for SWD wells in the public notice. Failure to do so will result in the applications dismissal.

Thanks and let me know if you have any additional questions,

Regards,

Ben,

I have updated the files for the WLC South Fed SWD No.1 and the WLC South Fed SWD No.3 Trove applications.

No additional documentation will be necessary for these applications at this time.
