Good question, David. Let me talk to some of our people around here and at Hobbs about this.

Thanks for the inquiry.

Mark,

I've been reviewing your latest application to convert the NHGSAU No. 632 to injection, and we've got a slight problem. Order No. R-6199-B authorized CO2 injection into the Phase I area of the North Hobbs Grayburg San Andres Unit. Order No. R-6199-B also approximately defined the Phase I area based upon the evidence Oxy submitted at the hearing. Within Section 31, only the N/2 is contained within the Phase I area. Well No. 632 is located within the SE/4 of Section 31, and out of the Phase I area. Pursuant to the order, I can approve Well No. 632 as a water injection well, but I cannot approve this well for CO2 injection. If Oxy is expanding CO2 injection beyond the Phase I area, I think that Oxy will have to come in and amend R-6199. Any thoughts?

David

Mark,

I've been looking at this again. Well No. 322 is located in the SW/4 NE/4 (Unit G) of Section 31, which is in the Phase I Area defined by Order No. R-6199-B. Therefore, even though Well No. 632 is a replacement well, it is still located outside of the Phase I Area. I would have to stand by my original interpretation. As stated before, I can approve this well for water injection, but not for CO2 injection.
