All: February works for Concho as well. Although I suspect that Cases 14613 and 14647 will take at least a day as will Cases 14640/14641 so that they may need to be set for different dockets.

Thanks,
Ocean

I understand your reasons for continuing all of these Burnett-COG cases, but I need to let you know that the pit rule case will be heard in January, so the earliest these cases can be heard will be February. Just let me know what you decide.

Thank you.

Florene and Bob- I need to talk to Concho but I agree that Dec. 8 will probably not work.

Dear Ms. Davidson---

I will talk to them, but from speaking with Jim Bruce about another Burnett Oil/COG case also set today on the Commission docket for 8 Dec., it seems that this date won't work, as I expect the evidence on this case to take up most of a day, and there are already 2 other cases ahead of this and the other Burnett/COG case on Dec 8th. I think we would prefer to move this to January docket and have it set the same day as the Burnett/COG pooling orders in cases 14640&14641, as both those cases will involve most of the same witnesses, I expect COG would agree, but ask that Ms. Muns-Dry comment on behalf of COG.
