I was at the well yesterday & it's still very much abandoned, not even a watchman is there anymore.

In fact I saw two legal documents, Leins, tacked to a fence post out there. One is for non-payment of ± 226.00 in favor of a mud service company & the other is for non-payment of ± 600.00 in favor of the watchman.

I don't know what kind of job they did on the hole when they took off the last time. May be muddled or have a cement plug in there be just plain again. The surface casing has a steel plate welded to it. So that you can't tell what's in the hole.
