OCD approval does not relieve the operator of liability should their operations fail to adequately investigate and remediate contamination that may pose a threat to groundwater, surface water, human health or the environment. In addition, OCD approval does not relieve the operator of responsibility for compliance with any other federal, state, or local laws and/or regulations.

Ms. Venegas,

The extension request is to complete delineation at the release site. The initial excavation of the visually impacted soil took some time to complete and the consultant addressing the site had a scheduling conflict that impeded delineation activities.

Thank you,

Chase
