

ADDITIONAL REMARKS

A constant time multipoint test consisting of four 4-hour flow periods was used to determine the exponent "n". The exponent "n" so determined was then applied to a stabilized one-point test to determine the absolute openflow. This type of testing was employed since well stabilization was impractical due to reservoir conditions.

RJD:mfm