Department of Education

SECTION THREE

The Department of Education is a government agency that is responsible for the management and supervision of the public school system. It is the primary agency for the delivery of basic education in the Philippines. The Department is headed by the Secretary of Education, who is appointed by the President of the Philippines. The Department is organized into various offices and divisions, each with specific functions and responsibilities.

The Department of Education is also responsible for the development and implementation of educational policies and programs. It works closely with local educational authorities and other government agencies to ensure the quality and effectiveness of the education system. The Department also provides technical assistance and support to schools and teachers.

The Department of Education is committed to providing a quality education for all Filipino children. It is dedicated to the improvement of the education system and the achievement of the goals of the Philippine Education Act of 1944.

The Department of Education is a key player in the development of the Philippines. It is responsible for the future of the country's education system and the well-being of its citizens.
