Dear Mr. Stamets:

I received your letter of June 7, 1968, relative to the captioned well.

We have been experiencing considerable mechanical difficulties in trying to keep this well on production. Scale and corrosion cause our bottom hole pump to continuously stick and we are now trying to free the bottom hole pump and hope to have the well back on production within the next few days.

We will advise you the amount of oil this makes immediately after our workover is completed.

Yours very truly,

J. J. Travis
