

[illegible]

Figure 1. The effect of the concentration of the polymer on the gelation time of the epoxy resin. The gelation time of the epoxy resin was measured at 100°C. The concentration of the polymer was 0.1, 0.2, 0.3, 0.4, 0.5, 0.6, 0.7, 0.8, 0.9, and 1.0 g/100 g of epoxy resin.

Table 1. Salmonella serotypes and their associated diseases. The table lists the serotypes and the diseases they are associated with, such as typhoid fever, paratyphoid fever, enteric fever, enteritis, enterocolitis, and gastroenteritis.

[illegible]