Chevron USA Inc. submits for your approval a change of plans for the buried 4" steel gas pipeline for the subject well. The Cotton Draw Unit #90 has been completed in the Bone Springs and appears to produce oil and gas in commercial quantities. In order to thoroughly test the well, we request permission to install a 3" SDR 7 polyethylene line on the surface within the existing surveyed route that was approved from Cotton Draw Unit #90 to a sales gas pipeline located near Cotton Draw Unit #67. The maximum operating pressure of the temporary polyethylene pipeline would be 100 psig. This temporary pipeline would allow the well to be tested without flaring the gas and realize revenue during the 45 day testing period. If the production is proven to be of commercial value, then the polyethylene pipeline would be buried per the stipulations originally set forth in the Sundry Notice that was approved on November 29, 2001. Since the well is producing at a much lower pressure than originally submitted, the polyethylene pipeline will be of adequate strength to handle the pressure and the steel is no longer required. If the test is successful, we will, under a separate cover, request approval for the installation of a new production facility at Cotton Draw Unit #90. The new pipeline will be located within the surveyed corridor and will not disturb additional surface.
