Dear Susan:

The 1992 Packer Leakage Test on the referenced well was not completed. Please reschedule the test as soon as possible. Temporary abandonment does not exempt a well from testing. If both zones are disconnected, the well may be tested by shutting in both zones for a minimum of three days and flowing the higher pressured side to the atmosphere until the pressure decreases enough to determine if there is zone separation.

Yours truly,

Charles Gholson
Deputy Oil & Gas Inspector
