...and the fact that the Journal is a journal of the American Psychological Association, the largest and most influential organization in the field of psychology, adds to the journal's prestige and makes it a must-read for all psychologists.

Figure 4 is a line graph with the x-axis labeled 'Percentage of total protein in total cell extract' and the y-axis labeled 'Percentage of total protein in cytosol fraction'. Both axes range from 0 to 100. A solid diagonal line represents the identity line (y=x). Several data points are plotted, each labeled with a protein name. The points generally follow the identity line, indicating that most proteins are found in similar proportions in both fractions. The proteins plotted include: Actin, Myosin, Troponin, Myoglobin, Hemoglobin, and various enzymes like Lactate dehydrogenase, Aspartate aminotransferase, and others. The points for Actin, Myosin, and Troponin are slightly above the identity line, while points for Myoglobin and Hemoglobin are significantly below it.
