Figure 1. A schematic diagram of the experimental setup. The subject is seated in a chair and views the target through a video camera. The target is a small object (e.g., a ball) that is suspended in the air. The subject is instructed to move the hand to the target. The distance between the hand and the target is measured by a video camera. The distance is then used to calculate the time to reach the target. The time to reach the target is then used to calculate the time to reach the target. The time to reach the target is then used to calculate the time to reach the target.
