STATEMENT OF JAMES H. DUFFY, JR.

Before the Subcommittees on and

Committee on the Judiciary, United States Senate

James H. Duffy, Jr., President of the American Bar Association, testified before the Senate Subcommittee on the Judiciary, United States Senate, on the subject of the proposed amendments to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, which would provide for the appointment of a special master to hear and determine the merits of a case in which a party is unable to pay the costs of litigation. Mr. Duffy testified that the proposed amendments would be a significant improvement over the current rules, which require a party to pay the costs of litigation before it can bring a case to court. He stated that the proposed amendments would allow a party to bring a case to court even if it is unable to pay the costs of litigation, provided that it is able to pay the costs of the special master's hearing. Mr. Duffy testified that the proposed amendments would be a significant improvement over the current rules, which require a party to pay the costs of litigation before it can bring a case to court. He stated that the proposed amendments would allow a party to bring a case to court even if it is unable to pay the costs of litigation, provided that it is able to pay the costs of the special master's hearing.
