Re: Support for Proposed Bonding Rule Updates – Case No. 24683

Dear Members of the Oil Conservation Commission,

Attached are the names of 890 members of the public that signed on to a petition in support of reforming New Mexico's oil and gas bonding and clean up rules. These are being submitted by the Sierra Club Rio Grande Chapter on behalf of a coalition of groups engaged in this rulemaking. Coalition partners include the Western Environmental Law Center, Semilla Strategies, Single Space Strategies, Citizens Caring for the Future, Conservation Voters New Mexico Education Fund, Diné C.A.R.E., Earthworks, Naeva, New Mexico Interfaith Power and Light, San Juan Citizens Alliance, Moms Clean Air Force and WildEarth Guardians.

Petitioners have signed on to the following language, and additionally, hundreds of petition signers have provided their own personal comments/messages, which are attached.:

The state has an opportunity to solve the growing problem of oil and gas infrastructure that needs to be closed and cleaned up as wells and facilities age and complete operations.

Clean-up is important for public health and safety and is an opportunity for a source of good-paying jobs in the southeast and northwest parts of the state. Oftentimes, hardworking, New Mexican taxpayers are left on the hook to cover the clean-up costs of abandoned or orphaned wells. We need to change current laws and rules with incentives to close and clean up low or non-producing wells and prevent toxic chemicals like methane and benzene from polluting the air and seeping into groundwater. Currently, the oil and gas industry's "insurance coverage" for clean-up doesn't include enough funding to address the actual costs.

Community members, social justice advocates, and environmental organizations from across New Mexico are coming together to make these needed changes by filing a petition at the Oil Conservation Commission. The petition proposes to update how much "insurance coverage" the oil and gas industry must take out before drilling, creating new jobs, and protecting New Mexicans' health, air, land, and water.

Specifically, the petition includes 3 elements:

- 1.) Updating financial assurance laws to require bonds that fully cover the costs of clean up and well plugging for each well.
- 2.) Updating clean-up laws and how wells are categorized to clarify who is responsible for plugging and cleanup when wells stop producing.

3.) Oversight of ownership transfers that will ensure companies have the financial resources to properly clean up and plug well sites.

It's critical that our decision-makers hear from hardworking New Mexicans who want oil and gas operators to pay to fully clean up their messes. Recent polling shows that an overwhelming 90% of New Mexicans support requiring oil and gas companies, rather than taxpayers, to pay for all of the clean-up and land restoration costs after drilling is finished. Please modernize our woefully outdated bonding rules.

Sincerely,

Camilla Feibelman
Chapter Director
Sierra Club Rio Grande Chapter

Please do the right thing and require adequate bonding. Please hold oil and gas developers accountable for clean up after wells are no longer in use. Democracy requires having citizens, including companies, be responsible for the public good. There is no "free land, waste land, or waste environments ." Abandoned wells need to be capped top and bottom to prevent pollution affecting our air and water.

					For all the reasons in the petition, we have to make the laws/rules for industry to clean up after themselves stronger and then enforce these laws. I've heard too many stories of coal, oil and gas industries being fined or penalized and they just ignore it. Please enact stronger rules and close any loopholes. Any oil company that drills in NM has to clean up after. They need to take responsibility for their actions even if they didn't make much money. Taking responsibility for all phases of their process. The oil and gas industry is making billions of dollars in profits, they can afford to clean up and it is their responsibility to do just that. Strengthen and enforce penalties, charge the highest possible rate for insurance coverage for each well.

Make these oil companies clean up their mess thoroughly before they can do anything else! It's only right! They should not be allowed to pollute our environment and air.
William Baker	wmhideandseek@duck.com	Albuquerque	AK	87111	It should not be necessary for state and federal taxpayers to be spent on cleaning up after irresponsible businesses. And there's a good chance federal funding will be reduced or eliminated, leaving more burden on the state and/or less clean-up.
Lawrence Benson	lawrbenson@aol.com	Albuquerque	NM	87111	This would help prevent the problem of abandoned wells, which often leak methane and other pollutants.
Denae Brake	denae.brake@gmail.com	Albuquerque	NM	87111	Please hold the oil and gas companies responsible for their messes
Eugene Bruce	gnbruce20@gmail.com	Albuquerque	NM	87111	Federal government policies are shifting the costs of many important concerns onto taxpayers. There is no reason that taxpayers should bear the costs of cleaning up for an industry that is thriving.

By raising the insurance coverage required for oil and gas companies to drill wells and open new facilities in New Mexico, cleanup is incentivized over the abandonment of low or non-producing wells, rather than making responsible. Walter Barger	wkbarger@gmail.com	Santa Fe	NM	87507	I am a Vietnam Veteran, and saw a whole country and its people endangered by the use of environmentally dangerous chemicals. The lack of long-term assessments of such practices continues to pose risks for both Vietnamese and American troops and their families. I am a veteran who was sent to fight for my country. I now see more and more cases of companies like the oil and gas industry who earn billions of dollars of public resources... and are not held accountable for the damage they do to the environment.
