Good afternoon Gentlemen,

I was on site late yesterday afternoon and then again this morning. All the released fluid that was outside the secondary containment is overspray and all remained on location, nothing off the pad was impacted. My guys hand spotted a line today and did a little shovel work between the fence and the secondary containment. As soon as the one call clears, we will get to work excavating the impacted soil up and placing it on plastic for disposal. We'll excavate it down and conduct chloride field test as we go along. Upon getting favorable field test results, samples for lab analysis will be obtained and analyzed. I'll advise when we are about ready to sample.

Thanks,
