Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of all forms necessary for plugging the above-captioned well. However, a recent field inspection of the site revealed that the dry hole Marker is just set in the hole. It must be cemented in. Also, the location is written in chalk. The marker must be clear and permanent; chalk will not do. No plugs were visible in top of the casing.

This is the fifth letter we've written to you about this well. We would like to get this straightened up at once.

Very truly yours,
