

NEW MEXICO
OIL CONSERVATION COMMISSION

~~Drawer DD Artesia, NM~~
DISTRICT OFFICE #2

Jan. thru April, 1977

NO. 2109 N

SUPPLEMENT TO THE OIL PRORATION SCHEDULE

DATE 3-22-77

PURPOSE ALLOWABLE ASSIGNMENT FOR A NEW WELL (N-S)

Effective 3-1-77, an allowable of 41 barrels of oil per day
is hereby assigned to the Petroleum Corporation of Texas
Jenkins B Federal #6-C, 20-17-30, Grayburg Jackson Pool.
This well is on the same unit with well #3.

March total 1271 bbls.
April total 1230 bbls.

Total unit allowable for March 1395 bbls.
" " April 1350 bbls.

WAG:sm

Petr. Corp. of Texas

THM

P--CON

OIL CONSERVATION COMMISSION

DISTRICT SUPERVISOR

1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long letter, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the country at that time. The President talks about the war with Mexico, and about the situation in the South. He also talks about the economy, and about the need for more money. The letter is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

2. The second part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Treasury, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the Treasury at that time. The Secretary talks about the amount of money that the Treasury has, and about the amount of money that it needs. He also talks about the different ways that the Treasury can get more money, and about the different ways that it can spend the money that it has. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

3. The third part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Interior, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the Interior at that time. The Secretary talks about the different parts of the Interior, and about the different things that are going on in each part. He also talks about the different ways that the Interior can be managed, and about the different ways that it can be improved. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

4. The fourth part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the War, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the War at that time. The Secretary talks about the different parts of the War, and about the different things that are going on in each part. He also talks about the different ways that the War can be managed, and about the different ways that it can be improved. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

5. The fifth part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Navy, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the Navy at that time. The Secretary talks about the different parts of the Navy, and about the different things that are going on in each part. He also talks about the different ways that the Navy can be managed, and about the different ways that it can be improved. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

6. The sixth part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Army, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the Army at that time. The Secretary talks about the different parts of the Army, and about the different things that are going on in each part. He also talks about the different ways that the Army can be managed, and about the different ways that it can be improved. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

7. The seventh part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Marine Corps, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the Marine Corps at that time. The Secretary talks about the different parts of the Marine Corps, and about the different things that are going on in each part. He also talks about the different ways that the Marine Corps can be managed, and about the different ways that it can be improved. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

8. The eighth part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the Coast and Geodetic Survey at that time. The Secretary talks about the different parts of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and about the different things that are going on in each part. He also talks about the different ways that the Coast and Geodetic Survey can be managed, and about the different ways that it can be improved. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

9. The ninth part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the Smithsonian Institution at that time. The Secretary talks about the different parts of the Smithsonian Institution, and about the different things that are going on in each part. He also talks about the different ways that the Smithsonian Institution can be managed, and about the different ways that it can be improved. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.

10. The tenth part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, dated January 3, 1862. It is a very long report, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the Department of the Interior at that time. The Secretary talks about the different parts of the Department of the Interior, and about the different things that are going on in each part. He also talks about the different ways that the Department of the Interior can be managed, and about the different ways that it can be improved. The report is written in a very formal style, and it is full of references to the Constitution and to the laws of the country.