DETAILS OF WORK

(State names of and expected depths to objective sands; show sizes, weights, and lengths of proposed casings; indicate mudding jobs, cementing points, and all other important proposed work)

Johns A-26 No. 2 was treated with 500 gallons Jel X-82D followed by 15,000 gallons Sandfrac oil and 20,000# Sand through 2 1/2-inch tubing with packer set at 3812.

After recovering load oil the subject well flowed 71.89 bbls fluid out 3/10% B.S. in 8 hours through 4/16-inch choke with GOR 553. Before treatment well pumped approximately 8 bbls oil per day.

I understand that this plan of work must receive approval in writing by the Geological Survey before operations may be commenced.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes the need for transparency and accountability in financial reporting.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and techniques used to collect and analyze data. It includes a detailed description of the experimental procedures and the statistical analysis performed.

3. The third part of the document presents the results of the study. It includes a series of tables and graphs that illustrate the findings of the research. The data shows a clear trend in the relationship between the variables studied.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the implications of the findings. It highlights the potential applications of the research in various fields and the need for further investigation in this area.

5. The fifth part of the document concludes the study. It summarizes the key findings and provides a final statement on the significance of the research. The authors express their gratitude to the funding agency and the participants who made the study possible.

6. The sixth part of the document includes a list of references. It cites the works of other researchers in the field, providing a context for the current study. The references are listed in alphabetical order.

7. The seventh part of the document contains a list of appendices. These include additional data, figures, and tables that are not included in the main text but are available for reference. The appendices are numbered and labeled.

8. The eighth part of the document is a list of figures. Each figure is accompanied by a caption that describes its content. The figures are numbered and labeled, and they provide a visual representation of the data presented in the study.

9. The ninth part of the document is a list of tables. Each table is accompanied by a caption that describes its content. The tables are numbered and labeled, and they provide a structured way to present numerical data.

10. The tenth part of the document is a list of equations. Each equation is accompanied by a caption that describes its content. The equations are numbered and labeled, and they provide a mathematical representation of the relationships between variables.

11. The eleventh part of the document is a list of symbols. Each symbol is accompanied by a caption that describes its meaning. The symbols are numbered and labeled, and they provide a key for the notation used in the study.

12. The twelfth part of the document is a list of abbreviations. Each abbreviation is accompanied by a caption that describes its meaning. The abbreviations are numbered and labeled, and they provide a key for the shorthand used in the study.

13. The thirteenth part of the document is a list of acronyms. Each acronym is accompanied by a caption that describes its meaning. The acronyms are numbered and labeled, and they provide a key for the shorthand used in the study.

14. The fourteenth part of the document is a list of footnotes. Each footnote is accompanied by a caption that describes its content. The footnotes are numbered and labeled, and they provide additional information or clarification on the main text.

15. The fifteenth part of the document is a list of references. It cites the works of other researchers in the field, providing a context for the current study. The references are listed in alphabetical order.
