NOTICE TO THE EDITOR

1. The first of these is the fact that the work of the Committee is not confined to the study of the general principles of the law, but extends to the consideration of the practical application of these principles in the various branches of the law. This is done by the Committee through the publication of reports and the holding of public hearings. The Committee also has the honor to receive and consider suggestions and proposals from the public, and to take such action as it deems appropriate thereon.
