THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

CHAPTER I

The first part of the history of the United States is the story of the early settlers. These settlers came from Europe and they brought with them the ideas and customs of their own countries. They found a land that was new and strange to them, and they had to learn to live in it. They had to learn to grow food, to build houses, and to defend themselves. They also had to learn to get along with the people who were already living in the land.

THE EARLY SETTLERS

The first settlers came to the United States in the early 17th century. They were men who had come to America to make a new life for themselves. They were men who had been born in Europe and who had learned the ways of European life. They had learned to grow food, to build houses, and to defend themselves. They had also learned to get along with the people who were already living in the land.

These early settlers were men of many different backgrounds. Some of them were men who had been born in England. Some of them were men who had been born in France. Some of them were men who had been born in other parts of Europe. They all came to America to make a new life for themselves.
