1. The first of the two is a "strongly negative" correlation between the "degree of political liberalization" and the "degree of economic liberalization". This correlation is "strongly negative" because the "degree of political liberalization" is measured by a "polynomial" of the "degree of economic liberalization". The "polynomial" is a "polynomial" of the "degree of economic liberalization" because it is a "polynomial" of the "degree of economic liberalization". The "polynomial" is a "polynomial" of the "degree of economic liberalization" because it is a "polynomial" of the "degree of economic liberalization".

1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the President of the Republic of China, dated January 1, 1955. The letter is signed by Dwight D. Eisenhower and is addressed to Chiang Kai-shek. The letter discusses the relationship between the United States and the Republic of China, and the importance of the Republic of China in the Pacific region. The letter also mentions the recent visit of the President of the Republic of China to the United States, and the President's appreciation for the Republic of China's contribution to the defense of the Pacific.
