THEODORE ROOSEVELT NATIONAL PARK

REPORT ON THE PROGRESS OF THE WORK

The work of the National Park Service during the year 1907 has been marked by a number of important events. The most significant of these has been the establishment of the Theodore Roosevelt National Park, which was dedicated to the memory of the great President and his contributions to the conservation of the Nation's natural resources. The Park is situated in the State of North Dakota, and covers an area of approximately 130,000 acres. It is one of the most beautiful and fertile regions of the West, and is rich in natural resources. The Park is a true gem of the North American continent, and its establishment is a fitting tribute to the great President who was so devoted to the conservation of the Nation's natural resources.
