Dear Mr. Steel:

As indicated in your conversation with Evelyn Downs of this office the above-referenced wells are overproduced on their casinghead gas and should be shut in until this over production is made up.

However, to avoid any unnecessary expense that might be incurred to return these wells to production after several months shut in we hereby grant permission to produce these wells at one-half their monthly casinghead gas allowable until such time as the overage is brought into line.

Please make certain that your field personnel are aware of this reduced production rate.

Very truly yours,

OIL CONSERVATION DIVISION
