On 7/16/50, gas and fresh water began erupting about 30 feet from the subject well and are forming a crater. In order to determine if the erupting gas is coming from this well, it is proposed to kill the well with heavy mud, and plug back from total depth 3148' to 2820' with gravel capped with 50' of Calseal and 50' of cement. A bridging plug will be set near the base of the 8 5/8" casing at 2789' and the casing will be tested for leaks using 1000 PSI pressure. Results of the test will be reported.
