

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific information required.

6

Researcher's bias: the way in which the design of the study was done and the way in which the surveys were conducted could be sources of bias and not the same as the content of the design or the question itself.

John W. Miller