DUPLICATE

On this date, the Commission received a letter from the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) regarding the proposed rule. The letter stated that the rule would be a violation of the First Amendment and requested that the Commission rescind the rule. The Commission responded to the letter on 10/10/2017, stating that the rule was necessary to protect the integrity of the election process and that the Commission was not bound by the First Amendment in this context. The Commission also stated that it was not aware of any other organizations that had requested a meeting with the Commission on this matter.

• U. luteolus (L.) (yellow) is the most common species in the United States. It is found in the eastern half of the country, from the Atlantic coast to the Rocky Mountains. It is a common weed in pastures and fields, and is also found in the wild. It is a perennial plant with a thick, horizontal rhizome and upright, branched stems. The leaves are lanceolate and have serrated margins. The flowers are small and yellow, and the fruit is a small, round, yellow capsule.
