

1. The first of the two is the fact that the evidence is not sufficient to establish that the defendant was the author of the crime. The second is the fact that the evidence is not sufficient to establish that the defendant was the author of the crime.

RECEIVED

AUG 11 1971

OIL CONSERVATION COMM.
HOBBBS, N. H.