

in approximately 15 days. If the well is productive, an additional 15 days will be required for completion and testing before a decision is made to install permanent facilities.